THE PROPOSED SUGAR FACTORY.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the full page announcement of the Oregon-Utah Sugar company, the publication being authorized by the company through its secretary, Mr. Alex Nibley. As will be noted by reading the statement as set forth by the company, the Rogue River valley will have a beet sugar factory if the people of the valley will grow the beets. The contract which the company presents for the signature of the growers binds both ways, the grower agreeing to plant a definite acreage for five consecutive years, while the sugar company likewise agrees to pay a definite price per ton for the beets so grown.

The Oregon-Utah company was organized at Salt Lake City a few weeks ago, the first press reports of the organization being somewhat in error regarding the personnel of the officering of the organization. The president of the company is C. W. Nibley, of Salt Lake City, who for years has been the head of the Utah sugar industry. His son, Alex Nibley, is the secretary. The other officers are Geo. Sanders, of Grants Pass, vice-president; O. C. Beebe, treasurer; W. R. Smith, assistant secretary, and the officers, with Messrs. Rodney T. Badger and Harold R. Smoot, directors.

There is no discounting the financial and the business ability of the gentlemen who are heading the new enterprise. They have made many successes in their enterprises in their other fields of activity, and have conducted with profit to the stockholders, as well as to the profit of the communities in which they are established, many sugar factories in Utah and elsewhere, and they only come to the Rogue valley after a complete examination of the district and its adaptability to the culture of the beet.

At the meeting of the Commercial club tonight the proposition as presented by the Oregon-Utah company will be given full consideration, and later in the week, Mr. Nibley, representing the company, will be here, when the campaign will be launched in full earnest.

MASON TELLS WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN

New York, Oct. 11.—Bulgaria's reluctance to begin the expected offensive against Serbia is probably explained by Czar Ferdinand's protest to Athens against the allies using Greek territory.

The Bulgarians should be prepared at least to send a supporting force to Serbia to assist the Teutons and to create a diversion along the Bulgarian frontier. No hostile move, however, has yet been reported from Niah. There is a possibility that this means Bulgaria may consider discretion better than valor and refuse to enter the war. The Bulgars, like all Balkan people, are on the look out for the winner, and their opinions fluctuate constantly.

The sudden landing of the allies at Saloniki introduced an unexpected element into the situation and this is causing uneasiness at Sofia. With Great Britain and France reinforcing Serbia there is an even chance that the Serbs will be able to deadlock the invasions. Bulgaria must concentrate parts of her army on the Roumanian and Greek frontiers. Hence if she were to waste her main strength against Serbia, Greece and Roumania might take advantage of her weakness and attack Bulgaria.

The new Greek ministry has shown no evidence of consenting to Bulgaria's demand that Greece close the allies' road to Serbia.
